BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE MAASAI

[1] This bibliography is a revision of a mimeographed copy which I compiled several years ago and which has been circulated privately on request. Continued interest has now prompted me to revise and publish it here. It deals mainly with the Pastoral or "Rift Valley" Maasai of both Kenya and Tanzania. But it also includes many important references to other Maa-speaking peoples--such as the Samburu and Njemps (Tsamosi) of Kenya and the Arusha and Baringyo of Tanzania--who are referred to repeatedly in the early literature as the Wakwavi, Wakwafia, or Guiguy as simply as the Agricultural Maasai.

[2] Although by no means exhaustive, the bibliography is designed to include all the major works dealing with the history, language, and traditional social, political, and economic life of the Pastoral Maasai. Other important items, not included here, may be found in the following: (1) Colonial Office Files, Public Record Office, London; (2) Secretariat Archives, Nairobi, Mombasa, and Dar es Salaam; and (3) Regional and Area Administrative Office Files, Kenya and Tanzania.

Titles in this bibliography are arranged alphabetically according to author or organization. The following abbreviations are used:

JAS	Journal of the African Society
JEAHNRS	Journal of East Africa and Uganda Natural History Society
JRAI	Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute
JRGS	Journal of the Royal Geographical Society
MS Nat	Manuscript in Kenya Department of Native Affairs, Secretariat Building, Nairobi
Proc. RGS	Proceedings of the Royal Geographical Society
